DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1-3 in the reply filed on 10/02/2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that contain searching and examining of all pending claims in the application would not be burdensome, more cost to the applicant, and inconvenience to the public during searching if issued in separate patents. This is not found persuasive because Groups I, II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept since each group of invention operates in a different way with a different function to achieve a different outcome, and a diverse search and examination would have to be conducted for each group of invention.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 4-5 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 10/02/2006.

Priority

3. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

4. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 03/08/2005 has been considered by the examiner and made of record in the application file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gurantz et al. (US Patent 5550869).

Consider claim 1, Gurantz et al. clearly disclose a receiver (figure 2, column 1 lines 5-15) comprising: an amplification (figure 2, variable gain amplifiers 23 and 25) means for amplifying a receiver signal based on an AGC signal (figure 2, AGC 64); a CORDIC means (figure 2, Digital Derotator 58, operating in accordance with a CORDIC function) for calculating a receiving amplitude of a known symbol which is a constant amplitude (column 6 lines 35-65); and a control means for generating the AGC signal based on the receiving amplitude calculated by the CORDIC means and applying the AGC signal to the amplification means (column 7 lines 34-36).

Consider claim 2, as applied to claim 1 above, Gurantz et al. clearly disclose the receiver further comprising a carrier frequency correction means for negating carrier frequency offset, wherein the CORDIC means detects the carrier frequency offset from a delay detection output of a receiving known symbol and a correlation output with the known symbol (column 3 line 52-67, column 4 lines 3-15, column 5 lines 4-7, column 12 lines 15-45, figure 6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

9. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Background Art admission by the applicant in view of Philips et al. (US Patent 6307877).

Consider claim 3, the prior art admission by the applicant clearly discloses a receiver comprising: a means for detecting carrier frequency offset; a sine wave and a cosine wave are obtained from a sine, cosine table corresponding to the detected carrier frequency offset, and conducting frequency offset correction process (specification page 3 line 10 - page 4 line 18, figure 8).

However, the prior art admission by the applicant fails to teach a CORDIC means for generating sine and cosine waveforms.

In the same field of endeavor, Philips et al. clearly disclose a CORDIC means for generating sine and cosine waveforms (column 17 lines 39-43).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the selection technique taught by Philips et al. into the prior art admission by the applicant as to have a CORDIC to generate sine and cosine waveforms for reducing look-up-table size.
